What is Virtual Staging?

Virtual home staging is a modernized version of home staging that digitally furnish vacant photographs. It is significantly quicker and cheaper than traditional staging process and allows builders, developers, designers and real-estate agents to successfully take advantage of this technology to display their properties in fully furnished and high-quality images.

According to the buyers' point of view, the images are the most significant factor when viewing a home online. Moreover, the vast majority of home searches begin online. Marketing tools are a great way to attract potential buyers because they become very unforgettable and appealing. With the help of virtual staging, the stylish, attractive furniture and decoration can be digitally added to photographs of a house's vacant rooms.

Why we should choose virtual staging over traditional home staging?

Virtual staging is the best way to save money with decorations while designing a home and it allows both real estate professionals and designers to save their time and money. Often, realtors spend thousands of dollars hiring a home stager whereas virtual staging will satisfy all your needs for further maintenance, transportation, rental fees, and most importantly, the necessary labour costs involved.

Some of the critical reasons :

- It is MUCH Cheaper Than Traditional
- Allows unlimited design elements & Inventory
- Help buyers visualize their personal choice
- Define accurate sizing and placements
- Showcase your best in design, materials, and décor

Harmon design group can successfully offer different services that range from both commercial and residential interior design, virtual staging and 3D renders and visualization for all desired projects.
